Bank of America Merchant Services and talech Team Up to Meet the Unique Needs of Full-Service Restaurants and Bars

October 30, 2018 07:18 AM Eastern Daylight Time

CHARLOTTE, N.C.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Bank of America Merchant Services, a leader in payments, eCommerce and security solutions, and talech, a pioneer in cloud-based restaurant management software, are teaming up to help full-service restaurant and bar owners with one or more locations run their businesses more efficiently through a new, innovative point-of-sale solution.

“Restaurants compete for customers who demand excellence in every aspect of their experience. This is why we have partnered with talech, a best-in-class technology solution for our restaurant clients to simplify their operations and seamlessly integrate our payments capability,” said Bank of America Merchant Services CEO Tim Tynan.

Clients who use Bank of America Merchant Services’ processing and talech’s integrated software may benefit from:

- Cloud-based connectivity offering point-of-sale mobility
- A fast and convenient checkout experience for guests
- The ability to customize and manage table layout and orders
- Simplified employee management, including scheduling and timesheets
- Streamlined ordering and cashing out with the ability to add discounts and gratuity

“At talech, we believe that by using data insights, small business owners can know as much about their business as their largest competitors,” said talech’s CEO Irv Henderson. “In partnership, the Bank of America Merchant Services and talech teams offer business owners an easy-to-use, feature rich point-of-sale that can help them save time and money.”
